

Our Story

The Latcham Gallery was started in 1979 by a group of local artists and visionaries who saw the need for an arts facility in Whitchurch-Stouffville. The Gallery was named after local philanthropist Arthur Latcham who donated money for a number of local buildings including the building that was to house the Gallery at 6240 Main Street.

Over the years, the Gallery has been supported by a legion of volunteers, members, local residents, the Municipality of Whitchurch-Stouffville and the Ontario government through the Ontario Trillium Foundation.

Feel free to make a donation or volunteer so that we can continue the Latcham Gallery legacy for another 25 years.

See Art

See art! What is that artist saying in their work? Why did they create that piece?

Explore the exhibition and learn about what the artist wants to share with you through their work.

The Latcham Gallery presents 8 to 10 exhibitions per year of original, contemporary art predominantly by Ontario artists. See a variety of media including painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, mixed media and three-dimensional work.

Make Art

Pick up a paint brush. Feel clay between your fingers. Think about an idea. Get frustrated and then work it through. Look at what you have made!

The Latcham Gallery offers art classes for artists and budding artists of all ages and experience levels.

For kids we have after school programs, Saturday morning classes, and art camp in the summer.

For adults we have beginner classes, life drawing and one day workshops.

For families we have free once-a-month Family Days where everyone can drop in and make art in an informal way in the Gallery space. It's free.

See what you can make and learn!

Explore Art

What IS that artist saying? I don't get it! How can I learn more?

The Latcham Gallery offers ways to understand more about art. Visit the Gallery and read the information available. Talk to the Gallery Curator who organized the exhibition. Come to an artist's talk or slide show or come to the opening reception and talk to the artist one-on-one.

Learn more about the stories behind the art!
